LOCAL RESIDENT OPENS NEW AUSSIE STORE IN ALBANY

Off the back of record lending levels in Western Australia, 39 year veteran of the banking and home loan industry, Barry Ross, has opened a new Aussie store.

Across the state, the leading mortgage broker's monthly loan volumes are up almost 24 per cent from the same time last year and over $1.5 billion in home loans settled last financial year.

A resident of Albany since the 1980's, Mr Ross is already very pleased with the response to the opening of Aussie Albany, which services the entire Great Southern region.

Mr Ross says: "Opening my first store with Aussie presents a great opportunity for Great South people, especially young couples and singles, who can now more easily take advantage of the historic low interest rates to get into the property market.

"We are already providing loans for a wide range of people, a large group of which are now opting for split loans between fixed and variable rates", he added.

Aussie Albany will be officially opened in a special ceremony on November 11, 2014, to be attended by the founder and executive chairman of Aussie Home Loans, Mr John Symond AM, local politicians including Rick Wilson and Peter Watson, and many local business people.
